We want to serve as a resource for your Medicaid questions.

Being Part of the Solution

Last week Tadd Haynes, President of Unicare Health Plan of West Virginia, traveled to Martinsburg to talk with local community leaders and providers about the health care issues many are facing. The conversations included food insecurity, housing, childcare, and workforce job training. Identifying the barriers that exist can lead to solutions through new partnerships and programs. UniCare also participated in the Veteran's feeding program where volunteers packed 400 boxes at the Mountaineer Food Bank in Poca, WV. These boxes included healthy food that go directly to veteran families in West Virginia.

A pop up FARMacy took place earlier this month in an effort to promote healthy eating and boost health equity in the Princeton community. The event supplied fresh produce to the patients at CAMC Primary Care.
